What is the Social Work Licensure Compact?

The Social Work Licensure Compact is an interstate occupational licensure compact. Interstate compacts are constitutionally authorized, legislatively enacted, legally binding agreements among states. This compact will enable regulated social workers with bachelor's, master's and clinical licenses to serve clients in every state that joins the compact, rather than going through the licensure process in every state where they want to practice. Like the compact for a driver's license, each Social Work Licensure Compact member state agrees to mutually recognize the licenses issued by every other member state.

Who can use the Social Work Licensure Compact?

To qualify for a multistate license, a social worker who lives in a compact member state must hold or be eligible for an active, unencumbered license in their home state.

Social workers must also satisfy the requirements associated with their category of license. Bachelor's social workers, master's social workers, and clinical social workers have access to the compact.

A social worker using the Social Work Licensure Compact to practice in another compact member state must abide by that state's laws and regulations related to the practice of social work.

What's Next?

The Council of State Governments (CSG) has facilitated the development of the Social Work Licensure Compact model legislation. This legislation has been finalized for introduction.

Each state must enact the model legislation to join the compact. Supporters of the compact can contact the state chapter or national office of their professional membership association and state legislature to advocate for the interstate compact.
